The United States mail steamer Baltic from Liverpool soon after 11 o'clock A. M. of Saturday, the 16th of June, arrived about one o'clock this morning. The Baltic arrived at 6:15 A. M. on Sunday, the 17th.

The new steamer June to State arrived at Liverpool Saturday morning, June 16.

By this arrival we have some information respecting the allied movement before Sebastopol, but as letters from the days behind the telegraphic dispatches, we know nothing beyond the few words published by government. From these it would appear that the fight for the Mamelon was obstinate—not fewer than 5,000 men being put to the sword—and the success was complete, sixty-two guns having fallen into the hands of the French. An important element in the victory is that the French from their new position can reach the ships in the harbor of Sebastopol. Cautious details are to hand of the attack on Kertch; also telegraphic announcements of further successes in the Sea of Azoff, where the fleets attacked and destroyed the stores at Taganrog, Mariopol and Genichik. Accounts of these last exploits are rather meagre. A boat expedition, to be conveyed in steamers to the shore, is fitting out in all haste at Portsmouth, and is expected to be ready for the start on the 20th. On the 17th of June, the Baltic was at the mouth of the Dnieper, and the Russian fleet was at the mouth of the Dnieper.

The Russians are stated (not doubt) to have evacuated the whole of the Crimean territory.

Duke Constantine is appointed Regent of Russia in the event of Alexander's decease.

The Russians are about to build a railroad through the Isthmus of Perekop.

Miss Nightingale is on her way to England on board the Cunard steamer Juno. She is convalescent from her attack of fever, but is recommended to recruit her strength at home for a season.

We have interesting news of the Empress of France. Mr. Fillmore is quite a lion at the English court.

Admiral Boscawen is dead. He is succeeded by Admiral Fremantle.

The Victory of Egypt is enrolling a force of 5,000 blacks in the Sudan.

Strochan, Paul & Co., London bankers, and Halford & Co., navy agents, London, have failed—the former is half a million sterling.

In trade generally a more cautious feeling appears, although no sign of an adverse action has occurred.

The Bank of England has reduced the rate of discount from 4 per cent, at which it had stood since the 24 of May, to 3½ per cent. Money continued easy. Continental exchanges again showed more firmness. Bullion decreased 228,000.

The Liverpool cotton market has been very quiet during the week, but there is no sign of a reaction for sale, prices were maintained, and the Manchester market had been somewhat irregularly affected by the reaction in Liverpool.

Breadstuffs were very dull, at a considerable decline. Weather magnificent.

DETAILS OF THE CAPTURE OF THE MAMELON AND WHITE TOWER.

GENERAL ZELINSKI'S DISPATCHES.

In order to form a correct notion of the operation of the allied army, it is desirable to refer to the description of these works. Every one is aware that the ground between the Mamelon and the White Tower is a narrow strip of land, and that the French army, by occupying this strip, has cut off the communication between the Mamelon and the White Tower.

bay, where our large mortars can reach them. We are now more than ever attracted to the Mamelon.

Lord Raglan's dispatch we have already received via H. H. H. as follows:—

Sebastopol, June 7.—The formidable fire of yesterday was kept up to-day with the greatest spirit, and soon after six o'clock this evening the French attacked and carried the White Tower and the Mamelon. The whole operation was most brilliant. Great gallantry was displayed on all sides. Casualties not yet known.

The next dispatch was the following:—

June 8.—The success of last night was very complete, and the gallantry and steadiness of the troops cannot be too highly spoken of. The French succeeded in securing the White Tower and the Mamelon, and those on their right, the Genievre Battery, and in those they took six guns, including eight cannons and four hundred prisoners. Nothing could be more brilliant than the conduct of our allies. We have lost 450 men killed and wounded.

Later accounts state that the British loss was 11 officers killed, namely:—Colonel Stanbury, Major Bayly and Deane, Captains Maler, Foster, Corbett, 150 private men killed, 510 wounded, and 10 missing. It is singular that Lord Raglan omits to mention how the British were engaged, or if they were engaged at all. General Pelissier's dispatch informs us that his English allies carried the ridge works in the quarry.

June 11, 11 P. M.—The combat of the 7th was more advantageous for us than it first appeared. It placed in our hands 100 cannons (of whom 30 are officers), and 73 pieces of cannon.

June 11, 11 P. M.—We are consolidating ourselves in the trenches. We have been able to fire with the Russian mortars on the Mamelon, and we are still farther up. We are preparing new batteries.
